Subject: distributing CMDRS

WAIS folk,

As I understand the system, this is the way we will distribute CMDRS:

* When we start a new WAIS/CM site, a person (either barbara or ottavia) will be "in charge" of it.

* We will try to just distribute object code until the new seeker is done.

* ~~Barbara~~ SCF will send seeker object code agreements to whomever. ~~When she gets it back,~~ She will email ~~she will send email to susan fairchild and~~ gordon so that the tape can be sent out.

* Susan will handle sending the tape out (with gordon's help).

* The person "in charge" should keep up with the site to find out if things are going well.

Sound reasonable?

Susan,

Would you give a master copy of the last and greatest Seeker agreement to Barbara?

I would like barbara to be the one to deal with Tony just so that it is controllable and simple from the customers point of view.

    Gordon,
    I received a fax from Barbara Lincoln this morning of the agreement that was signed for object code of seeker for Baylor College. If you would like to get me the tapes, I can make sure that they are fed ex'd out today.

    So that everyone is abreast...I will be sending another copy of the agreement
    as the one that Tony Gory signed did not specify the term of the agreement,
    the designated HW nor the licensed programs...

    Question to me please,
    Susan

I missunderstood what Susan was saying on the phone.

I thought that she just wanted to handle the sending out of CMDRS, but now
I think she wants to handle all the legal arrangements.

This is fine with me. Sorry for the confusion.

These are the issues that I am glad we are figuring out so that it will go smoothly for the next site, and the site after...

I think it still stands that Ottavia will follow up with the sites to see how their they are progressing.

We should try to make this look smooth the Tony even though we (I) are just figuring out how it all works.

I just talked with Susan Fairchild again tonight. Susan, correct me if I am wrong; I only get it straight when writing.

She would like to handle the sending out of legal forms, and getting them back. BUT she is not one to keep track of the progress of things.

Therefore, Susan will send out agreements and get them back. Unfortunately since someone else will need to know on a week by week basis what the status of the agreement, Susan will get many periodic queries.

I think this will all straighten out in time, but keeping our humor and goals straight, I think we will serve our customers best.

In the case of Tony Gorry and Baylor, she will send out the forms and ask for them back, and follow through to make sure it has been done.

   OK for me. Brewster, if you want, you can count on me to do the follow ups of what people are doing with the software. Who can we count on for technical support?

   Ottavia

I am the project leader, so start with me for all of these things. I then try to find the appropriate people. If we are not getting what we need from our people, please let me know and I will rearrange things; our organization is quite dynamic, but I will keep track of it.

For CMDRS: Gordon has been the main man.
For WAIS/Unix release: Jonathan Goldman has been the guru.
For WAIStation: Harry Morris is the Mac God
For New Seeker: Jonathan Goldman and Tracy Shen are the key folk. Start with jonny.
For Beta System: Harry Morris is the king pin.

Me? what do I do? I write email and break things.
